Managing Behaviours: Our Own

Hosted by the Indigenous Professional Learning Opportunities Coordinators

iplo@fireflynw.ca

We often get to a place of frustration and helplessness as we handle children with overwhelmingly large emotions and behaviours, but the true work is to manage our own overwhelming responses. It's hard work but we can and must do the hard things!

Join us as we explore some things that get in the way for us, and some interesting stories of people who have been challenged and have chosen to provide more secure caregiving.

Our Facilitator:

Joanne Brown has been a clinical social worker for nearly 35 years, working with families who struggle to be the best parents they can be. She works at New Directions as a Clinician in the Family Therapy Services, where she has had the opportunity to work with child care centre staff across Winnipeg, MB.
